The certified payroll records must include for every worker employed on the public works project the name, address, telephone number, social security number, job classification, hourly wages paid in each pay period, number of hours worked each day, and starting and ending time of work each day. These certified payroll records are considered public records and public bodies must make these records available to the public under the Freedom of Information Act, with the exception of the employee's address, telephone number, and social security number. In addition, a new monetary penalty of $5,000 may be assessed against Vendors who retaliate against employees who report violations or file complaints under the Prevailing Wage Act.
