PREFACE

WHAT THIS REPORT CONTAINS

This report contains a list of structures of special interest because of their architectural or artistic merit or their contribution to the urban fabric. Structures of interest primarily for historical reasons are not listed here, but are listed separately in the Illinois Historic Landmarks Survey.

WHY THIS IS AN INTERIM REPORT

This list of structures is issued as an interim rather than a final report since only towns of 500 population and above were surveyed; thus complete reports for counties must wait until the small towns and rural areas have been surveyed.

Although we have tried to be as comprehensive as possible in our surveying, it is probable that a few significant structures have been overlooked. It is also likely that there exist important interiors in outwardly undistinguished buildings.

In compilations of this kind, it is very easy, despite constant checking, for errors to creep in. We hope that by issuing this as an interim report persons perusing the lists will report errors of location, spelling, use, etc., so that corrections can be made. It is also hoped that additions of fact such as dates of construction, architect's name, original use and original owner may be supplied whenever known.

HOW THIS REPORT CAN ASSIST HISTORIC PRESERVATION

This inventory is intended as a first step in the preservation by local persons of important architectural works. Those interested in preserving our cultural heritage can, with these lists, begin to develop local registers that also include structures of purely historic interest as well as sites of historic and pre-historic significance.

HISTORIC DISTRICTS

A glance at the lists and maps will quickly indicate the number and distribution of structures of architectural interest. A cluster of structures may suggest the need for thinking in terms of districts. Various initiatives toward historic preservation that can be taken by local persons are: the formation of landmark groups and commissions; the preparation of historic and architectural reports on individual structures and districts; the nomination of selected structures and/or entire districts to the National Register of Historic Places; the preparation of an official list of local sites and structures; and the preparation of local ordinances to protect those sites and structures.

CONDITIONS GOVERNING THE USE OF THIS REPORT

It is intended that any firm, group, agency, organization or person with a legitimate interest in historic preservation should have access to the reports of the Illinois Historic Structures Survey for purposes of reference only. Anyone wanting to reproduce or incorporate into any study, report, computerized print-out, or similar document more than a small part of any Survey Report or other data circulated by the Illinois Historic Structures Survey must submit to the Survey office a letter of particulars describing in detail the manner in which it is proposed to use the information provided. This restriction does not extend to the one-time reprinting or publication of all or substantial parts of individual reports by local newspapers or local historical societies. Whenever a study, report, computerized print-out, or similar document incorporating Survey data is issued, one copy of that document must be sent to the Survey office.

Any use of Survey reports must carry prominent credit lines calling attention to the Illinois Historic Structures Survey as the source of the information presented. In no case, shall anyone, whether firm, group, agency, organization or person, state or imply that information obtained from reports of the Illinois Historic Structures Survey was compiled by anyone other than the staff of the Survey. Users of Survey Reports are cautioned that the reports presently being issued are Interim Reports. As such their accuracy is not guaranteed: the Survey reserves the right to amend these reports in any way; by deleting entries, changing information, correcting facts or maps, adding entries, etc.

AGENCIES INVOLVED

This report was prepared and issued by the Illinois Historic Structures Survey, directed by Paul E. Sprague. This was a division of the Illinois Historic Sites Survey, an administrative unit operating until 1975 under the auspices of the Illinois Department of Conservation. Funding was provided by the Illinois Department of Conservation and the National Park Service. Staff members assisting in the preparation of the report were: Thomas Yanul, Robert Wagner, Susan Sorell, John Pohl and Cynthia Durko.

The survey of cultural resources in Illinois has continued through the Division of Historic Sites, created in 1975 as part of the Bureau of Land and Historic Sites in the Department of Conservation. Historic Sites is located at 405 East Washington Street, Springfield, Illinois 62706. The interim reports were revised in 1980 with additions and corrections from the public.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE OF THIS REPORT

Arrangement: TOWNS, VILLAGES, CITIES: The arrangement is numerical by street address with the streets listed in alphabetical order. Numbered streets (e.g., Second) are listed in numerical order and follow the named streets. These structures are keyed numerically to one or more city maps.

CITY OF CHICAGO: Structures are arranged alphabetically and numerically according to their address as above. Each is keyed by number to one or more maps which utilize traditional neighborhood boundaries.

Interpretation: EXAMPLE:

1. Jones House [37] Ash St. 1889 J. L. Smith W-345/3 NR
(Hist. Society)

KEY (LEFT TO RIGHT):

1. Column of numbers on left denotes map reference number.
2. Second column indicates type of building and original owner if known. Parentheses denotes present use when obviously different from original or clarifying statement.
3. Third column lists address. Brackets indicate an estimated address.
4. Fourth column gives date of construction.
5. Fifth column denotes architect or designer.
6. Sixth column denotes photographic film roll and frame number.
7. "NR" occasionally listed at far right denotes that the structure is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.
